

N1 Fund Officially Launches New Web Page

1st Mar. 2008

N1 Fund is proud to announce that it has officially launched its new company webpage. The launch of the new webpage comes at an exciting time, as it coincides with the launch of the new N1 Global Segregated Portfolio.

There have been some unique features that have been incorporated into the website, which includes the brand new "N1 Live Chat" function which gives clients the opportunity to speak and have direct access to N1 Fund representatives in real-time. This function will enable investors to speak to N1 Fund staff members to ask questions and receive information regarding the company's products.

The webpage will also contain an educational section devoted to educating investors about the hedge fund industry and strategies employed by hedge fund managers, as well as information about N1 Fund and its flagship strategy, the N1 Fund Allocator[®]. There is also an Investor Relations section where investors can read about latest events at the company, as well as press statements and view a library full of Bloomberg and CNBC interviews participated by N1 Fund CEO, Nicu Harajchi.

N1 Fund prides itself in providing as much transparency as possible. We believe that providing timely information in combination with excellent customer service, is the key to building a mutually beneficial relationship.

We encourage clients to browse the webpage, use the chat function, learn about the hedge fund industry, and more importantly, learn about us.

N1 Fund has a firm asset under advisory of $300 million. It is one of the leading European multi-strategy fund of hedge funds that serves retail, private, and institutional clients around the world. It is currently expanding its operations in the Asia Pacific region with its regional headquarters situated in Hong Kong, while Germany serves as its head office.